designer Tommy Fjastad was invited to Diani and design and build an 18-hole championship golf course.

In June 1993, Dr. Meister sadly passed away and work on the golf course came to a standstill. The new owners of the hotel – the Kantaria family – wanted the course finished and completed, and the Golf Club was finally inaugurated in May 1998. Today, this Golf Club hosts some of the major golfing competitions, such as the Diani Beach Masters, Zone IV, E.A. Challenge, the Africa Junior Championships, and is most popular for Corporate Golf Tournaments such as the ones hosted by Commercial Bank of Africa, Heritage Insurance, Kenya Power & Lighting and so many more, attracting players from all over the world.

In February 2001, John Kioko Mutua, a man with a wealth of experience in hotel management, took over the helm of this big ship.

John, a farsighted and visionary himself had further improvements and three major renovations made to the hotel and its rooms and facilities and saw to the construction of an ultra modern conference centre, aptly named Dr. Meister Conference Hall, with a capacity of up to 700 delegates.

A further five other smaller conference rooms which can accommodate from 50-200 people have been added on. With this expansion, the Conference Centre has been renamed as "the Kileleni Conference Centre, and this is being officially opened on Monday 17th December 2012 by H.E. President Mwai Kibaki. Kileleni is by far the largest conference centre at the coast with all modern high tech facilities.
